DEEP GREEN RESILIENCE: A SPIRAL OF CREATIVE QUESTIONS AND BEAUTIFUL POSSIBILITIES

1. I embrace the Life that unfolds within me: What deeper strengths, skills, understandings, and qualities of heart am I being challenged to develop by the ecological, economic and political crises in the world around me?

opening 4. I embrace the infinite depths of Life, of which my life is an expression: Confronted with the severe breakdowns in the world around me. how will I open my life to new sources of inspiration, to the hidden heart of all life?

wholding as a per Bringing out the best in myself – becoming and bringing into the world the beautiful aliveness yearning to be born in all of us

Opening to and connecting with the creative energies toney Bean Soir the Construction of the Constr & deeper dimensions (and more) nurturing deeper Bringing out the best relationsh in one another, kindness toward all, mutual encouragement to face the difficult truths of our situation

Working with others to mend what is broken, stop what is harmful, transforming society, ecology

2. I embrace the Life that unfolds between us: What deeper strengths, skills, understandings, & qualities of heart are the ecological, economic and political crises of Planet Earth challenging us to nurture in one another? as friends? as co-workers? as family? as citizens?

& Commerce 3. I embrace the Web of Life that surrounds and sustains us: How do I feel called to mend the world? What particular work evokes in me the greatest compassion, creativity and kindness?

hips

By Dennis Rivers - Cooperative University of the Great Turning - www.univgt.org - Permission to copy granted to all: This work is licensed under a Creative Commons 4.0 International License 2014 - See www.CreativeCommons.org. Many bows of gratitude to Joanna Macy, Ramon Panikkar, Thomas Berry, Mahatma Gandhi, Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Albert Schweitzer, and the Narrative Therapy / Appreciative Inquiry movements. Version 15D -- December 30, 2014